THE funeral of one of the wives of Messes

Turner & Co.'s Compradore took place this afternoon about one o clock, and was conducted with all the pomp, and gorgeous display at the command of a Chinese occur pying a well-to-do position. The deceased was the second of four wives, but had been promoted to the position of first wife on the death of the senior some years ago. She was 45 years of age, and leaves, we are informed, two grown-up sons. The death occurred about four weeks ego, in the family house in Shelley Street, where constant mourning ceremonials by a large household retinue, as well as by numerous friends of the deceased, have been carried on ever since in the true orthodox fashion peculiar to the Chinese. The husband of the deceased purchased the rank of a mandarin some years ago, and the display to-day was conducted with all the dignity befitting the rank of one holding that position. The procession was a long one, consisting of the usual varied collection of coolies and boys dressed up in the most gorgeously-coloured and fantastically-arranged robes, some carrying banners inscribed with legends details ing the virtues of the deceased, others carrying chairs and trays laden with the carcases of sheep, goats, deer and fowls, together with a large collection of fruits. flowers and cakes. Some seven or eight Chinese bands occupied positions in the cortege, discoursing music of the most discordant description, but suitable we presume to the occasion. Two bodies of Chinese priests and a party of Chinese nuns also appeared in the throng; and the whole was brought up by the body, placed in a large bier profusely decorated with flowers, carried by sixteen bearers, and surrounded by a large gathering of mourners, the more immediate friends and relatives of the family. The procession took its way from Shelley Street by Hollywood Road. Wellington and D'Aguilar Streets, and the Prays to the H. C. and Macso Steamboat Company's Wharf, where the body was placed on board the steamer White Cloud for conveyance to Macao, on route to the instant, by the M. M. Company's native place of deceased where interment will take place. A large matched was erected in the morning at the junction of Wing Lok Street with Bonham Strand, where many friends and relatives assembled from time to time during the forencen to pay their tribute of respect to the memory and Co., that the S.S. Saghalien, left Saigon for good qualities of the departed.

This college was constructed large enough to hold all their boys, and even more if they wished to come, so he hoped the college would prosper, and he thought the laying of the foundation stone by his Excellency was a pledge of the success of the institution. He then asked his Excellency to lay the stone.

The Governor said,—Ladies and gentlemen, the especial interest which the Government has in the proceedings of to-day consists in the fact that this is what is called a Grant-in-aid School-that is, it is a school towards the support of which the Covernment gives a grant. Now, when I came into the Colony in 1877, there were in this Colony a certain number of Grantin aid schools. Last year the number of such schools was double what it was in 1877. and the number of pupils had also doubled How is that to be accounted for ! It is really due to the fact that Her Majesty's Government, since the year 1877, altered the principles under which the Grant-inaid schools in this Colony were supported. When I arrived here. I found the school to which the Reverend Father Burghignoli referred—the predecessor of this school-but though that school had at that time about 200 boys in attendance, the sons of European residents in this Colony, the sons of ratepayers of the colony, nevertheless, that school was receiving no grant-in-aid. I also found that schools of other denominations were similarly situated. It was represtrated to me by Pastor Klitzke, and Father Louis, that their schoools were receiving no Government aid, and the late Colonial Chaplain. Mr Kidd, represented that he could not conscientiously receive Government Grant-in-aid, and the same reason which influenced these gentlemen in refusing that grant, also, also influenced other gentlemen, and the consequence was that out of all the grant in aid schools in this colony, there were but 80 pupils of the foreign residents in Hongkong who were assisted by Government aid. Well-in this school alone now, we have over 200 pupils, and the change has been effected by Sir Michael Hicks Beach, the Colonial Secretary of State, by striking out of the grantin-aid scheme the word "secular." and the word "elementary." In 1877, it was a rule that no school could get a Government grant in which the school books were not secular, and in which a considerable portion of the time of intruction was not devoted to secular teaching only. Well, Sir Michael Hicks Beach considered carefully the representations of Bishop Raimondi, of The reverend clergy, and also the colonial chaplain of the Church of England, and he resolved to strike out the word "secular from the grant-in-aid scheme. That decision of Her Majesty's Government was not given hastily, or without considering the question. At the time when I forwarded the papers for the consideration of the Government, I was able to inform the Colonial Secretary of State, that Dr Stewart, who had been an able and zealous advocate of the secular system, would proceed to London, and would explain to those who wished to ask him as to the secular system of grant-in-aid, his views. Those views were carefully considered. Dr Stewart, in a long letter of his, addressed to the Colonial Secretary, pointed out that in his opinion if the word "secular" were struck out of the grant-in-aid scheme, it would be the abandonment of the whole principle of education which was then in vogue in Hongwong. Nevertheless, having considered the question carefully, Her Majesty's Government resolved to strike out the word "secular." and to-day I am about to lay the stone of a school receiving Government aid now to the amount of $1,400, and in a school which did not receive a single farthing of Government aid when I arrived in the Colony, and that school will receive had no doubt he had only to explain in further assistance from the Colonial Secretary of State to help in the building of the school. (Applause.) Well, I must say gentlemen. I think the decision of Her Majesty's. Government was in every sense wise decision; it was strongly in favour of freedom of religon, because thus we sllow, in every school in the colony, the teachers to bring up the boys as they think fit to teach in connection with every subject. The examination is conducted by independent examiner under Government control in subjects selected by Government, and on the result of that test examination the award of the grant depends. I have much satisfaction in informing you all that the important change made by Sir Michael Hicks Beach has worked admirably. There is not now in this colony a single denomination, or any body of men who have a complaint to urge against the Government with respect to our public education. I agree with Father Burghignoli that the credit of what we are doing here to-day is really due to Bishop Raimondi, who has laboured so many years to bring about the result which we now see viz, the Government assistance

THE OHINA REVIEW.

FIJHE widely-expressed regret at the discontinuance of Notes & Queries on Ohina and Japan, has induced the publishers of this journal to issue a publication similar in object and style, but slightly modified in certain details.

THE CHINA REVIEW, or Notes and Queries on the Far East, is issued at intervals of two months, each number containing about 60 octavo pages, occasionally illustrated with lithographs, photographs, woodcuts, &c., should the papers published demand, and the circulation justify, such

The subscription is fixed at $6.50 postage paid, per annum, payable by non-residents in Hongkong half-yearly in advance. The publication includes papers original and selected upon the Arts and Sciences, Ethnology, Folklore, Geography, History, Literature, Mythology, Manners and Cus-tems, Natural History, Religion, &c., &c., of China, Japan, Mongolia, Tibet, the Eastern Archipelego and the "Far East" generally. A more detailed list of subjects upon which contributions are especially invited is incorporated with each number. Original contributions in Chinese, Latin, French, German, Spanish, Italian or Porare admissible. Endeavours number of the contents of the most recent works bearing on Chinese matters. Great attention is also paid to the Review department. Notes and Replies are classified together as "Notes" (head references being given; when furnished, to previous Notes or Queries), as are also those queries which though asking for information, furnish new or unpublished details concerning the matter in hand. It is desirable to make the

the point as possible. The China Review for July and August, 1875, is at hand. It says that forty-two essays were sent in to compete for the best paper on the advantages of Christianity for the development of a State. All our learned societies should subscribe to this scholarly and enterprising Review. It is a sixty paged, bi-monthly, repertory of what scholars are ascertaining about China. The lecture on Chinese Poetry in this volume is plone worth the price of the Review. Address China Review, Hongkong .- Northern (hristian Advocate (U.S.) Trubner's Oriental Record contains the following notice of the China Review :- "This is the title of a publication, the first number of which has lately reached us from Bongkong, where it has been set on foot as in some respects a continuation of Notes and Queries on China and Japan, the extinction of which useful serial a year or two ago has icen much regretted in Europe as well as in China. The present publication, judging by the number now before us, is intended to occupy a position, as regards China and the reighbouring countries, somewhat similar to that which has been filled in India by the Calcutta Review. The great degree of attention that has been bestowed of late years upon the investigation of Chinese literature, antiquities, and social developments, to say nothing of linguistic studies, has led to the accumulation of important stores of information, rendering some such channel of publicity as is now provided extremely desirable; and contributions of much interest may fairly be looked for from the members of the foreign consular services, the Uhinese Customs' corps, and the missionary body, among whom a high degree of Chinese echolarship is now assiduously cultivated. and who are severally represented in the first number of the Review by papers highly creditable to their respective authors. In paper on Dr. Legge's She King, by the Three hours, ... 50 cts. | Six hours, ... 70 cts. Rev. E. J. Eitel, to which the place of honour is deservedly given, an excellent summary is presented of the chronological problems and arguments involved in connexion with this important work. Some translations from Chinese novels and plays are marked by both accuracy and freshness of style; and an account of the career of the Chinese poet-statesman of the eleventh century, SuTung-p'o, by Mr. E. C. Bowra, is not only historically valuable, but is also distinguished by italiterary grace. Beside notices of new books relating to China and the East, which will be a useful feature of the Review, if carried out with punctuality and detail, we are glad to notice that "Notes" and "Queries" are destined to find a place in its pages also. It is to be holed that this opening for contributions on Chinese subjects may evoke a similar degree of literary zeal to that which was displayed during the lifetime of its predecersor in the field, and that the China Review is the first Chinas Newspaper ever issued under purely native direction. The chief support of the paper is of course derived from the native community. amongst whom also are to be found the guaranton and securities necessary to place it on a business and legal footing. The projectors, basing their estimates upon the most reliable information from the various Ports in China and Japan,-Australia, California, Singapore, Penang, Saigon, and other places frequented the Chinese, - consider themselves justified in guaranteeing an ultimate circulation of between 3,000 and 4,000 cories. The advantages offered to advertients are therefore unusually great, and the foreign community generally will find it to their interest to avail themselves of tion-conducted by native efforts, but progressive and anti-obstructive in toneis almost limitless. It on the one hand commands Chinese belief and interest while on the other it deserves every aid that can be given to it by foreigners. Like English journals it contains Editorials, with Local, Shipping, and Commercial News and Advertisements.
